VICTOR CRESPO

Curriculum Vitae

Department of Philosophy, Duke University
1364 Campus Drive, Office 09D, Durham, NC

v.crespo@duke.edu

AOS	Philosophy of AI; Ethics
AOC	PPE; Decision Theory

EDUCATION

2022–present	Duke University, Ph.D. in Philosophy (expected May 2027) Certificate in Society-Centered AI (2026–present) Dissertation committee: Benjamin Eva (co-chair), Walter Sinnott-Armstrong (co-chair), Reuben Stern, Matthew Adler (Duke Law).
2025	AIDE (AI + Data Ethics) Summer Program, Northeastern University. Selective nine-week residential program in the philosophy of AI, data ethics, and the philosophy of technology. It included 12 CS lab sessions (2 hour each) on python, machine learning, sci-kit learn, neural networks and language models.
2020–2021	London School of Economics and Political Science, M.Sc. in Philosophy and Public Policy, with Distinction
2018–2021	University of Barcelona, B.A. in Philosophy; Minor in Economics and Political Science
2013–2018	Complutense University of Madrid, B.A. in Law; Concentration in Public Law

COAUTHORED PUBLICATIONS

3. Jacewicz, N., Crespo, V., and Fischer, B. (forthcoming 2027). "Pricing Suffering in Animals." Maryland Law Review.
2. Aharoni, E., Fernandes, S., Brady, D. J., Alexander, C., Criner, M., Queen, K., Rando, J., Nahmias, E., and Crespo, V. (2024). "Attributions toward Artificial Agents in a Modified Moral Turing Test." Scientific Reports 14: 8458.
1. Crespo, V., Rando, J., Keswani, V., Sinnott-Armstrong, W., and Eva, B. (2023). "Reevaluating COMPAS." NeurIPS 2023, Workshop: Algorithmic Fairness through the Lens of Time.

SINGLE-AUTHORED PAPERS UNDER REVIEW (Drafts available)

A paper on less discriminatory algorithms (R&R)

A paper on a dilemma for leading statistical metrics of algorithmic fairness

SINGLE-AUTHORED WORKS IN PROGRESS (Drafts available)

A paper arguing that none of the three leading statistical metrics of algorithmic fairness is necessary for fairness or provides evidence of unfairness

A paper on predictive algorithms and social welfare

A paper arguing that prioritarian social welfare functions should not be bounded

A paper on population policy choices for bounded decision-makers

A paper on prioritarianism under severe uncertainty

TEACHING EXPERIENCE AT DUKE UNIVERSITY

Instructor of Record

- Introduction to Philosophy — Spring 2026, Summer 2026
- AI, Ethics, and Society (PPE Constellation) — Fall 2024 – Spring 2026 (4 terms)
- Logic — Fall 2025
- The Future: Ethical Challenges — Fall 2023, Spring 2024

Teaching Assistant

- Data Science Ethics and Policy (Master's in Interdisciplinary Data Science) — Fall 2026
- What Rules Do We Need? (PPE Certificate) — Fall 2026
- Prisoner's Dilemma and Distributive Justice (PPE Certificate) — Fall 2024, Spring 2025
- Philosophy of Neuroscience — Spring 2024
- History of Modern Philosophy — Fall 2023

SERVICE

2025, 2026	Organizer, Duke–UNC Graduate Conference
2024–2025	Organizer, Minorities and Philosophy (MAP) Workshop, Duke University
2023–2024	Community Engagement Chair, Department of Philosophy, Duke University
2023	Organizer, Duke–UNC Epistemology Workshop
2023	Organizer, Meeting of the North Carolina Philosophical Society

FELLOWSHIPS AND AWARDS

2022	Fulbright Scholarship (declined). Full funding for the first two years of PhD program.
2022	Outstanding Graduate Award, B.A. in Philosophy, University of Barcelona. Awarded to the top graduate in the cohort.
2020–2021	"La Caixa" Scholarship. Full funding for the M.Sc. at the London School of Economics.
2020	MOBINT Scholarship, Government of Catalonia.
2018	Outstanding Graduate Award, B.A. in Law, Complutense University of Madrid. Awarded to the top graduate in the cohort (474 students).
2017	Award for Excellent Academic Performance, Government of the Community of Madrid.

PRESENTATIONS

2026	"Fairness Metrics: Neither Necessary nor Evidence of Unfairness," Works-in-Progress Workshop, Department of Philosophy, Duke University
2025	"Prioritarianism and Fatality Risk Regulation", Commenter at Matthew Adler's book presentation

2025	"Population Ethics with a Human Face," 9th Meeting of the Philosophy, Politics, and Economics Society
2025	"Algorithmic Fairness and Simpson's Paradox," 9th Meeting of the Philosophy, Politics, and Economics Society
2024	"Algorithmic Fairness and Social Welfare," Moral Attitudes and Decision-Making Lab (MADLAB), Kenan Institute for Ethics, Duke University
2024	"Algorithmic Fairness and Base Rate Tracking," Moral Psychology Research Group, Duke University

REFERENCES

Benjamin Eva
Associate Professor of Philosophy
Associate Member of the Rhodes Initiative
Duke University
benjamin.eva@duke.edu

Walter Sinnott-Armstrong
Chauncey Stillman Distinguished Professor of Practical Ethics
Associate Member of the Rhodes Initiative
Duke University
walter.sinnott-armstrong@duke.edu

Reuben Stern
Associate Professor of Philosophy
Associate Member of the Rhodes Initiative
Duke University
reuben.stern@duke.edu